

Manipadma Datta is the Professor & Head, Department of Business Sustainability at TERI University, New Delhi, India. He has a vast experience in management teaching, training and research spanning more than three decades. He earned his PhD from the University of Calcutta and GCPCL from the Harvard Business School. He is also a Fellow (FCS) of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India. Professor Datta has taught at many prestigious Indian and international institutions of repute including University of Calcutta, Vidyasagar University West Bengal, Nirma Institute of Management Ahmedabad, Institute of Management Technology Ghaziabad, Indian Institute of Management Lucknow, International Management Institute Delhi, NTPC Power Management Institute NOIDA, National Institute of Financial Management Faridabad, and University of Brussels Belgium. Professor Datta has supervised a number of students to their MBA and PhD theses. Being an avowed researcher in the field of finance, accounting and sustainable development, he has published extensively both in national and international journals including contributions to two anthologies on corporate financial reporting and organizational dynamics. He is on the PhD committees of a number universities in India. He worked as an Expert to a number of international projects sponsored by IFC, World Bank and ADB in Nepal, Bangladesh and Guyana. Professor Datta's areas of interest include Corporate Finance, Sustainability Finance, Weather Derivatives, ESG issues, and Corporate Accounting.